

DUBLIN

Trifolium repens

- Intermediate type (medium size leaves)
- Very productive
- Rather aggressive growth
- Good persistency

Very productive

DUBLIN is an intermediate type adapted for both hard and light defoliation. The total dry matter yield is one of the best on the French variety list.

Aggressive growth

The aggressiveness allows the clover to defend itself in areas where the ryegrasses tend to dominate.

Persistent

DUBLIN is one of the most persistent varieties on the French list.

Technical Specifications

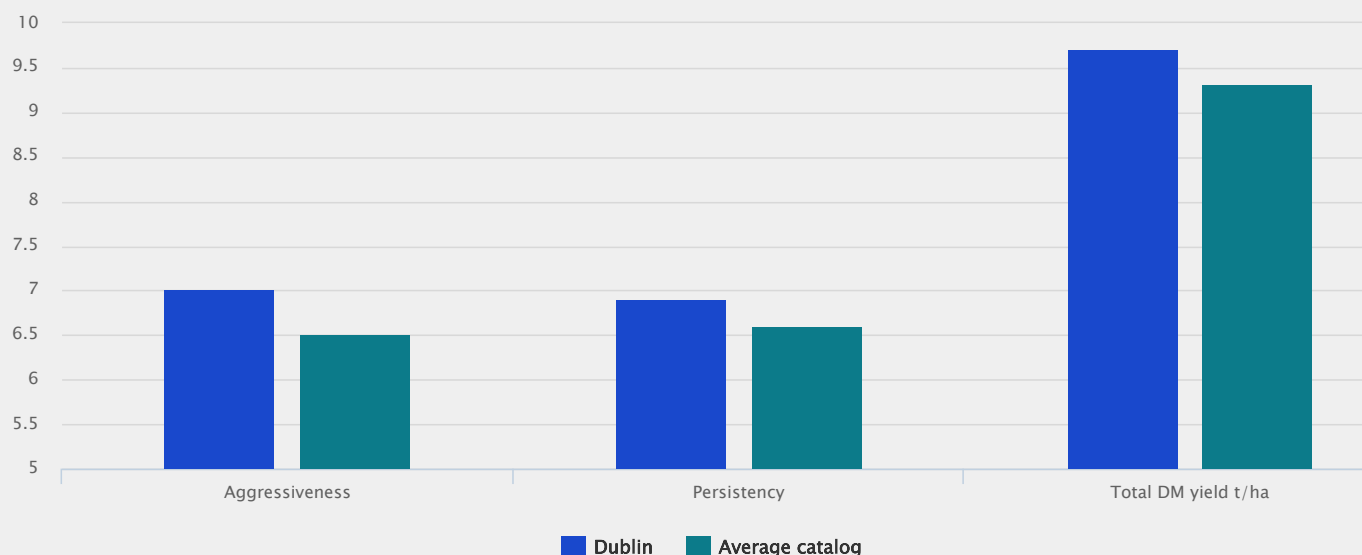

- White clover
- Medium leaf-size, very productive and rather aggressive variety
- Listed/recommended in EU FR
IE UK

Specification and ratings

Results from off. French trials

Source: herbe-book.org 2016 (France)

Scale: 1-9, 9 = best/aggressive for scores

Ratings

Scale 1-9, where 9 = best or most pronounced

